General Information

What is a Medicaid waiver?

- In 1981, Congress passed legislation allowing states greater flexibility in providing services to people living in community settings.
- This legislation, Section 1915(c) of the Social Security Act, authorized the “waiver” of certain Medicaid statutory requirements.
- The waiving of these mandatory statutory requirements allowed for the development of joint federal and state funded programs called Medicaid 1915(c) Home and Community Based Services Waivers.

How does the 1915(c) HCBS Waiver work?

- The Utah Department of Health and Human Services, Division of Integrated Healthcare has a contract with the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services (CMS - the federal Medicaid regulating agency) that allows the state to have a Medicaid 1915(c) HCBS Waiver.
- The contract is called the State Implementation Plan and there is a separate plan for each waiver program.
- The State Implementation Plan defines exactly how each waiver program will be operated.
- All State Implementation Plans include assurances that promote the health and welfare of waiver recipients and insure financial accountability.

What are the characteristics of a waiver?

- States may develop programs that provide home and community based services to a limited, targeted group of individuals (examples include: people with brain injuries, people with physical disabilities, or people over the age of 65).
- Individuals may participate in a waiver only if they require the level of care provided in a skilled nursing facility (SNF) or an intermediate care facility for people with intellectual disabilities (ICF/ID).
- States are required to maintain cost neutrality which means the cost of providing services to people at home or in the community has to be the same or less than if they lived in a nursing facility.
- The services provided cannot duplicate services provided by Medicaid under the Medicaid State Plan.
- States must provide assurances to CMS that necessary safeguards are taken to protect the health and welfare of the recipients of a waiver program.
